Voting List Compiled For ASC Elections

A list of eligible voters for Appomattox County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) community committee elections is now being compiled at the ASCS office.

Producers may check at the local ASCS office to make sure that they are listed to receive ballots in the mail elections to be held later this year.

Producers and the general public may inspect the list from now until December 3, at the Appomattox County ASCS Office, Court Street, Appomattox, Va.

Voter eligibility for ASC committeemen elections is non-discriminatory and is applicable without regard to race, religion, color, sex, or national origin.

A farmer who is eligible to participate in any ASCS program is eligible to vote in ASC elections. This includes not only producers of legal voting age who own, rent, or sharecrop a farm, but also minors who supervise and conduct farming operations on an entire farm. Sprouses of eligible voters can participate in ASCS elections if they are joint owners or joint tenants of the farm.

In addition to these voters, any legal partnership, such as associations, estates, trusts, State, or State agencies, may also receive a ballot. Each owner in a joint farm ownership has a vote. However, a producer may only vote in one community election in the county regardless of the number of farming interests he has in different communities.

"We are exerting positive effort to assure that the names of all potential voters are on the list," said James R. Ford, Jr., Chairman of the Appomattox County Committee. "We have gone over previous election lists, program participation records, mailing lists for our newsletters, and other ASCS bulletins and are canvassing the county through radio, and the newspapers, to reach all potential voters."

Mr. Ford also said that the community boundaries have been determined for this year's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committeemen elections in Appomattox County and that there are no changes in the community boundaries this year.

Auditions Set For International Talent Pagent

Young ladies between the ages of 4 and 17 and residing in the state of Virginia will be interviewed and auditioned for the 1973 International Talent Pageant on Sun., Nov. 11 at 6 p.m. auditions will be conducted at the YWCA at 6206 Church St., in Lynchburg.

A field director from the pageant headquarters will select five girls to represent the state at the world finals.

4 to 6 year olds will be auditioning for the title of Miss Petite; 7 to 12 year olds for the titles of Little Miss and Little Miss Talent and 13 to 17 year olds for the titles of Miss Teen and Miss Teen Talent.

Talent titles will be selected purely on the individuals achievement in the creative or performing arts.

Girls in the younger division will be judged on their poise, personality, ability to take direction and beauty. Young ladies in the two older divisions will be required to perform a talent display of approximately one to three minutes and will be instructed how to walk and turn on the runway.

At the international finals, to be held at the flagship hotel in Rochester, New York on December 26th through 29th, girls will be competing for $2,500 in cash scholarship awards to further their individual artistic development.

Mr. Ken Malone, the executive director of the pageant explains, "I have created the international talent pageant to give young ladies a pageant system which would develop incentive to practice and develop their creative and performing arts and also to put the proper emphasis on talent, beauty, poise, and personality."

Malone is a former featured dancer on Broadway, television and night clubs and is currently a dance instructor at Ithaca College in New York State.

"All 50 states, 10 Canadian provinces and Mexico will be sending delegates to this annual world-wide event. Our girls will not only be gaining incentive, but will be practicing good sportsmanship, experiencing friendships and the talents of their peers as well as, joining girls of all races, colors and creeds on a common ground. This is truly a youth development program."

The age of the contestant on December 31, 1973 will determine which age division she will compete in. A phonograph will be provided at the auditions. All other sources of music must be brought to the audition.

Girls who play large instruments such as pianos or organs and those desiring further information, should contact the International Pageant. Headquarters, 169 Lake Street, Elmira, New York, 14901.

CRANBERRIES
The Year 'Round Berries With the Bounce

The Beginning of the Berries

Cranberries are truly North American berries. Before Columbus came to the new world, the tangy wild cranberries had an important place in everyday life here. Indian squaws used cranberries to brighten up food.

The Wampanoag Indians of Cape Cod area treated wounds from poisoned arrows with a cranberry dressing. Squaws made their rugs and blankets colorful with the red cranberry juice.

Pilgrim women learned of this wild berry from the friendly Indians. They soon began to create their own ways of fixing cranberries for their tables. They made cranberry sauces, bubbling tarts and tongs.

The Taming of the Berries

Cultivation of cranberries began in Massachusetts nearly 200 years after the landing of the Pilgrims. In 1816 Henry Hall of Dennis, Cape Cod, noticed that cranberries seemed to grow larger and juicer where sand from the dunes blew over the vines. Cultivation today came from this simple observation made nearly 150 years ago.

Cranberries grow on peat soil that has been covered with a three inch layer of sand. Cuttings or branches from existing cranberry vines are planted deep enough to take root in the peat soil beneath the sand. The vines, planted about six inches apart, gradually spread over the ground forming a thick green carpet. The vines are weeded in the spring, pruned in the fall, fertized and resanded every three or four years. Vines are protected from frost by flooding and irrigated in time of drought.

Birds are needed to control the insects. Bees pollinate the blossoms.

Cranberries were first picked by hand then by wooden fingered scoops which combed the berries from the vines. Since World War II, the scoops have been replaced by mechanical pickers which complete the harvest faster and cut down risk of frost damage.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Cranberry Fruit Nut Bread

2 cups all-purpose sifted flour
1 cup sugar
1 ½ teaspoons double-acting baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup shortening
¾ cup orange juice
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
1 egg, well beaten
½ cup chopped nuts
1½ cups (Fresh or Quick Frozen Fresh Cranberries, coarsely chopped)

Sift together flower, sugar, baking powder, soda and salt. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse cornmeal. Combine orange juice and grated rind with well beaten egg. Pour all at once into dry ingredients, mixing just enough to dampen. Carefully fold in chopped nuts and cranberries. Spoon into greased loaf pan (9 x 5 x 3"). Spread corners and sides slightly higher than center. Bake in moderate oven 350°F. about 1 hour . . . until crust is golden brown and toothpick inserted comes out clean. Remove from pan. Cool. Store overnight for easy slicing.

Note: If Quick Frozen Fresh Cranberries are used, do not thaw. Give them a quick rinse in cold water and chop while frozen.

Hollywood

Mrs. L. H. Watson and Miss Susan Irby spent last week with Mrs. Watsons' son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Watson Jr. and family of Alexandra. Mr. L. H. Watson Sr. spent the weekend in the same home.

Mrs. Addie Jenkins and daughter Mrs. Ber Abbitt were moved to the Liberty Nursing Home in Lynchburg during the weekend. We pray they may soon be feeling better.

Mrs. Monroe Webb is a patient in the Virginia Baptist Hospital. Each one wishes for her a very speedy recovery.

Mr. Richard Jenkins of Baltimore visited his mother and sister Mrs. Addie Jenkins and Mrs. Ber Abbitt at their home in Appomattox for a few days last week.

Weekend guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wingfield and family were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Deaver and daughters of Richmond and Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Wingfield and son of Roanoke.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Watson and William moved to their new home on Route 2 last week. We welcome them to our neighborhood.

We are happy to know Mrs. F. O. Covington of Lynchburg is showing some improvement. She is a patient in the Lynchburg Hospital, Room 223B Wing. She sustained a broken hip and shoulder as well as other injuries when she fell and is still a very sick person.

We are very glad to hear Mr. Ewing Joiner of Herndon, Ky. is improving nicely and is expected to leave the hospital this week. We wish him a very speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Woodall of Lynchburg have been ill with very bad colds. We hope they may soon be feeling good again.

DOES HENRY EVER SAY THE SAME THING TWICE?

SCHOOL CONSOLIDATION & BUSING

"... consolidation of school districts as a general principle would appear to be the only instrument now available."
The VIRGINIAN PILOT, March 5, 1972, commenting on Richmond consolidation case.

"Howell said Saturday he personally believes in the concept of the Richmond school integration plan."
Richmond TIMES DISPATCH, January 23, 1972.

"And if it's going to be some distribution of the young people of the District of Columbia into Maryland and into Virginia, to save our nation from being a divided black-white nation, then we've got to try this."
Voice of Henry Howell on WTOP-TV interview, March 26, 1972.

"Howell said he would not work for an antibusing amendment to the Constitution if elected governor."
Richmond TIMES DISPATCH, October 10, 1973.

"Well, I'm opposed to forced consolidation."
Voice of Henry Howell on his own 30-Minute Political TV Advertisement, July, 1973.

In reply to the charge that he advocated crosstown busing, even across district and state lines, during a televised interview, Henry Howell remarked "I never said that."
Richmond TIMES DISPATCH, March 12, 1973.

HENRY'S BEEN HEDGING... HE'D LIKE YOU TO FORGET

RIGHT TO WORK

Henry Howell went on record as co-patron of Senate Bill No. 347, 1968, which would have destroyed Virginia's Right-to-Work Law by allowing an agency shop fee to be collected from non-union employees.

"I am for a union shop and that means I am against the right-to-work law . . ."
VIRGINIAN PILOT, May 13, 1965.

"I would not repeal the right-to-work law. I have never offered an amendment."
Voice of Henry Howell on his own 30-Minute Political TV Advertisement, July, 1973.

WHICH SIDE OF THE ISSUE IS HENRY REALLY ON?

INDIVIDUAL RIGHTS

"He (Henry Howell) was the only member of the State Senate to vote against a provision in Virginia's new Constitution guaranteeing that 'the right of the people to keep and bear arms, shall not be infringed'—a provision whose words are taken directly from the Second Amendment to the Constitution of the United States."
Richmond NEWS LEADER, October 29, 1971.

"The finest document in the land, the Constitution, states as plain as can be the right of our citizens to keep and bear arms should not be infringed, and I believe in that right."
Voice of Henry Howell from his 30-Second TV Spot aired in Roanoke, Va., Sept ember, 1973.
